ARMY AND NAVY NEWSPEARL HARBOR*DRYDOCK DREDGED ORIGINAL LENGTH

The Pearl Harbor drydock has been dredged the full 600-foot length according to the original plans, and has also been cut to the required width required by the first plans. The full depth will be dredged shortly, the first excavation going down only thirty feet. The drydock will be excavated to fifty-five feet. The contractors have erected their machine shops, engine house, tool houses and various smaller buildings for the use of the officers and workmen, and shortly the heavy work of building the drydock will be under way. All the concreting machinery and other parts of the construction plant are on the ground and much of the lumber has arrived from the Coast.

Warships From Far East.

The naval station has received no information concerning the cruisers Chattanooga and Cleveland, due from the far East en route to the Coast for overhauling. The New Orleans relieved the Chattanooga at Shanghai on May 4. The Cleveland was to come direct from Manila, while the Chattanooga was to come from a China port having been dispatched to the Chinese coast in connection with the recent riots at Chang-Sha.

The Case of Saxe.

MANILA, April 15.—Private Joseph Saxe of the Engineer Corps, who figured in the unsuccessful attempt of two Japanese to purchase plans and photographs of the fortress at Corregidor, is aboard the transport Logan bound for San Francisco.

He left Fort Santiago at an early hour this morning and went to Mariveles on the last launch that connected with the transport. The present intention is to transfer him to some garrison in one of the middle States, there to await any action that may be taken on his case.

The investigation of the charge that Saxe, previous to the commencement of the deal with Suganami and Kawada, made a sale of photographs to agents of a European power, presumably Germany, has not made much progress and it is improbable that a case ever can be made out. At the present time the case amounts to but little more than suspicion.

I has been discovered that Saxe had in his possession and spent more money than a man in his position could reasonably have. Saxe is credited with some indiscreet remark about a method he had of getting money and it is claimed that he had meetings with two Europeans who were here. Saxe denies that there is any truth in the charge, but his denial is not regarded as conclusive.

It is claimed that a Filipino had a part in the European deal but when he was rounded up nothing was obtained from him.

There has been no final decision as to what will be done with Saxe. Some officers of the army who are familiar with the facts assert that it would be difficult to convict him for his part in the Japanese affair.

Meantime the papers are in the hands of Major Porter, judge advocate, and it is expected that when his examination of them has been completed, they will go to the war department, with recommendations from Major Porter and General Duvall.

ANOTHER JAPANESE EXCURSION IS COMING

YOKOHAMA, May 7.—The Toyo Kisen Kaisha has undertaken to organize a tourist party to South America, taking advantage of the occasion of the Chilean exhibition to be held next fall at Santiago. The party has for its object, besides the general aim of the tour, the investigation of the trade relations between the South American Continent and Japan and of the prospects of our emigrants there. The organizers hope that the first hand observations made by the members of the party will lead to the development of trade between South America and this country and to the promotion of our emigration there. According to the program prepared, the party is to leave Yokohama on the 12th of July and to return on the 18th of October. The expenses are 1000 yen per member. The party is to visit Honolulu, Mexico and Peru on its way to Chile. About twenty-five days will be spent in Chile and many important places in the interior are also to be visited.

SILLY STORY WAS WITHOUT GROUNDS

At the time the afternoon papers made their appearance on the streets yesterday with lurid accounts of P. Scheid "dying on remote mountain peak" and "lying somewhere near the Pali, utterly exhausted and suffering with a sprained ankle," the said P. Scheid was at his home catching up with the meals he had lost. His bleeding feet and sprained ankle and other pilkias had somehow escaped his notice and he knew nothing about them until he read the descriptions in the papers.

In company with two other youths, Scheid climbed to the top of Kona-ianani on Sunday, being tattered out with the exertion. The party spent the night in the hills, von Holdt and Frenzer, the companions of Scheid, getting up somewhat early and making their way into town, leaving Scheid asleep and alone. When the sun got too hot he awoke, pulled on his shoes, slid down the mountain and walked into town, getting in between two and three o'clock.

In the meanwhile, alarmed at the reports brought in by his two friends, a search party went out to bring in the wounded. They climbed one side of the mountain while Scheid slid down the other. Sheriff Jarrett, Doctor Strahl and a trusty from the jail who knows the mountain trails, formed the rescue party. They found the place described by von Holdt and Frenzer, but nothing was in sight there except an empty sardine can. With this as evidence, they searched about a little and returned to town, getting in about seven o'clock.

When seen last night Scheid said he simply went to sleep and his two friends forgot to wake him before they sailed into town with their alarming stories.

A LIFE SAVER.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

THE CHINESE PRINCE GETS HEARTY WELCOME IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 2.—Prince Tsai T'ao, uncle of the infant Emperor of China, arrived in New York Sunday with his royal suite and was the recipient of a hearty welcome from a great delegation of his fellow countrymen and city and State officials. The prince came here from Washington, and for the next few days he will be quartered at the Hotel Plaza, where his party occupies twenty rooms. The prince is a brother of Prince Chun, father of the present Chinese ruler.

He displayed no particular interest in the city. Afterward one of his staff officers said: "Oh, he saw it all; he never misses anything." He speaks no English.

The police boat Patrol was on hand at Jersey City with an escort to receive him. A large crowd watched the prince walk down to the Patrol and were much interested in the modest, silent young man, who kept his eyes on the ground in front of him. He was dressed simply in rich blue silks and wore a black skull cap, without decorations. Even the robes of the consular officers seemed gay besides his. The military officers of the suite looked the part, being well set up in their uniforms of light gray.

About twenty automobiles were in waiting on this side. Delegations of Chinese merchants from this city, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and other cities formed a lane for the cars to pass through, and at its farther end were forty children from the Chinese school in Matt street, in charge of their teacher, C. H. Chu. As the touring car bearing the prince passed them they sang, "Chung Hua, Chung Hua, Hui, Hui, China, Tsai T'ao!" It means "Welcome, welcome to the city, noble prince of China."

At the hotel the many Chinese merchants, members of the Chinese Reform Association and schoolchildren all demanded to see his imperial highness. Chen Huan Chang of Peking, who is now studying law in Columbia University, told the newspaper men afterward that the prince had expressed gratification over the organization of the Chinese Reform Association.
